

Dear QUAD Participant,

It's just a short distance but such a giant leap. It's really just a little shift of position, a mere matter of degrees that will take me from the sidelines of this year's run to the starting line of QUAD 20th02.

I mean, instead of standing HERE on the sidewalk, I'll be standing over THERE in that pack of athletic types, pulse pounding, a gaggle of butterflies roaring through all the vitals in my Not-Ready-For-QUAD-Time body.

Oh, but hey, I almost forgot: by next year's run, I'll be well seasoned, having dealt by then with the ski, the (gulp) swim and the bike.

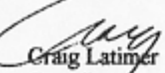

And on top of it all, I have one tremendous advantage, almost an unfair edge (but of course I will take any edge I can get.) I have been able to bear witness to a great wealth of role models, the hundreds upon thousands of incredible people that I have watched over the past twenty years. That's where I'll draw my strength, from the kids and Mom's and septuagenarians and folks that never-did-this-stuff and then went out and did great. People that overcame injuries, illnesses, good times, bad times, missed starting times, broken equipment and broken bones. Elation because of good performances, deflation because of bad tires, inspiration because of pride in a friend or family's accomplishment.

I, probably more than anyone in the last twenty years, have been witness to all of that in the Highmark Blue Cross Blue Shield QUAD Games. I will use that wonderful role model that you all have been as my motivation.

Sunday, January 27, 1:00 p.m., the 20th Annual Highmark Blue Cross Blue Shield QUAD Games begin at Peck 'n Peak with the cross-country ski race.

I can't wait.

Sincerely,

Craig Latimer
Coordinator
