

Dear QUAD Participant,

Twenty years of QUAD Bike Races are now behind us and like snowflakes (or the lack of this year. Ouch.) each one is different. This year, for me, was especially different.

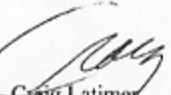

WHAT I MISSED: A day spent on the starting line and the tremendous variety of people, bikes, attitudes, anxieties, humor and emotion. I don't want to talk any current participants out of actually doing the QUAD but I'm always lifted up by the visual aspect of the games. Knowing so many of the names, seeing the excitement, feeling the reactions. I missed that. I was busy riding.

WHAT I SAW: The QUAD Bike Race from a whole different view. Oh yeah. It's amazing what I don't remember of the day and just how much of the experience is sort of a blur or more accurately a bluuuuuuuuur.

HOW IT WAS: Fun. So very much fun. I'm awful close to the forest to be championing the events but I just had a really good time and feel so much closer to the events and the people that participate in them. Knowing the wild vibes I had coursing through my body as Jonathan Borkowski counted me down at the start line and knowing what I put into my own ride gave me immense admiration for the 7-year-olds, the 70-year-olds and the many people in between that have challenged the QUAD all these years. Words cannot describe my respect.

Two down, two to go.

See you at the run,

Craig Latimer

P.S.

Fun and games aside, I'm always frustrated by errors and gaps in the results. This year our start and finish line support was as strong as any in recent memory. Still, problems occurred when participants took start times other than their own and worse, riders that had already finished the race went out and re-crossed the finish line leading to a host of timing problems. Log on to our website at highmarkquad.org for more on this as well as information on QUAD Records and other associated information.
