Dear Highmark QUAD Participant,

You love all your children, don't you? Of course you do. And you love them all equally, always careful not to show any favoritism.

It's just that sometimes you have that one child that shines a little brighter, that does something so very special. You reach a point that while fearing you might appear to be putting this child on a pedestal, you can't help but shower this offspring in praise. If it makes the others feel slighted, you just have to take a deep breath, put your arm around the other children to provide comfort and say in your most grown-up, parental tone, "Hey kids, tough noogies. This Highmark QUAD Ski Race rocks the world!"

And so it is that after twenty-four years I have come to feel parental over the growth and development of the Highmark QUAD Games. And while the swim, bike and run all hold very special moments and memories, it is the ski race that stands out as a truly unique event.

In our community and region there are other swim meets, bike races and running events and while I think our QUAD standard of those is quite high, local organizations do an extremely excellent job of hosting similar events. But the ski race . . . there really is nothing else quite like it. It's the color, sound, mass start and excitement, expert and novice attitude, young kids, old kids and most certainly the locale. As this year's course gathered snow and evolved over the weeks, I was once again reminded of and grateful for the tremendous knowledge and expertise the staff at Peek 'n Peak provides. And the course itself? The morning of the race I wedged myself onto the back of a snowmobile one of the groomers was driving so we could check out a particular section of the race course. The sun was out, the corrugated surface of the track glistened and I imagined all the gliding, swooping and fun that was soon to take place on what I view as sort of a Cedar Point for skiing. It's a world class venue that I would be proud to show off to anyone that enjoys cross-country skiing.

My thanks to all of the wonderful work done by the Peek in preparation of the event and to all of you for hanging on through some desperate and frustrating postponements.

I'll surely get a more intimate view of the course next year as I toe the line for the 25th Anniversary of the Highmark QUAD Games. I hope you'll bring along some friends and join me.

To all of you that are Highmark QUAD Champions, congratulations on your participation this year and we'll have your long-sleeve shirt for you at the Roadhouse on March 18.

Sincerely,

Craig Latimer
