Dear QUAD Participant,

I was beginning to think that the only place that the weather could really plague a QUAD event was at the ski race. No snow, no ski race. Simple, right? A snowstorm the day of last year's QUAD Swim didn't keep the swimmers from swimming. A hard rain at the 1988 QUAD Bike Race didn't keep the wheels from turning. But at this year's QUAD Run, the wheels almost fell off as the steamingly, heavy air seemed to increase gravity and make that last hill almost impossible to climb.

As always, though, the spirit of those committed to that very personal challenge of completing the QUAD overcame the elements, the course, the intense heat. The QUAD Run of '89 will long be remembered and the names listed as conquerers of the course should long be admired.

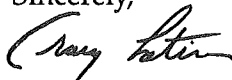

As we come to the end of the QUAD season, I'm struck by a kaleidoscope of images and impressions but the one that stands out most is of the many volunteers and support personnel, the staff and people who come together to help plan these events and allow them to be run safely in the various communities they are held.

"Thanks" just doesn't seem like enough to say, but I thank you all sincerely nonetheless.

Each year we get a chance to reflect on the events just past at the QUAD Awards Night. Once again the QUAD Awards will be held at the East Erie Turner's Club at eighth and Parade beginning at 7 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 21.

If you have done one event, all four, or have just watched and enjoyed the Saint Vincent QUAD Games, I hope you can come out for an evening of special camaraderie. At the QUAD Awards Night, as through the various events, it's clear that it is the very special people that do the QUAD that make the Games so special.

Sincerely,

Craig Latimer
Coordinator
Saint Vincent QUAD Games
